Overview

How can Botswana improve electricity production?

Increasing the Botswana Power Corporation's profits on the sale of electricity. Reducing, and ultimately removing, Botswana's need to buy imported electricity. Generating revenue for Botswana from the export of electricity. Creating carbon credits by renewables and gas replacing coal in electricity generation.

Will Botswana get a 100km pipeline?

This will include a ~100km pipeline from our wellfields to the proposed Leupane Energy Hub and Industrial Park this approval is a significant milestone for Botswana. With two other EIAs in their final assessment processes for the developments of the Serowe Energy Hub and the Leupane Energy Hub and Industrial Park.

How can Botswana contribute to decarbonisation?

Meeting Botswana's shortfall in electricity supply and contributing to decarbonisation. Creating a large Southern Africa energy/industrial hub suitable for manufacturing renewable energy and energy storage products, new-age materials, and products aligned with the resources sector.

What is Botswana doing now?

Established in 2018 Botswana is currently exploring and developing; the Serowe Gas Project and Solar Opportunities within Botswana. Our current operations centralise around our coal bed methane (CBM) projects with the potential for more exciting opportunities in the future within renewable energies.

What does Botswana want to do?

Botswana aims to reduce its dependence on diesel and expensive, imported, unreliable electricity and to transition to renewables. It plans to utilise its huge, undeveloped CBM resources to become energy independent and create new industries. The directors and CEO collectively hold around 39% of the Ordinary Shares of Botala.

Does Botala have a special economic zone licence?

Botala has been granted a Special Economic Zone Licence (SEZA) by Botswana's Special Economic Zone Authority for the Leupane Energy Hub and Industrial Park for proposed manufacture of solar PV panels with Solar Finland. Serowe-3.1 has reached an appraisal milestone, having been successfully flared twice.
