Maintaining photovoltaic solar panels

Overview

Do solar panels need maintenance?

Solar panels have no moving parts, which makes them relatively low maintenance. But if you want to reduce solar panel costs and maintenance over time, you'll need to look after them. Here are a few things that you should do to keep your panels in tip-top condition:

How do I maintain my solar panels?

All in all, maintaining your solar panels is pretty easy. If you notice dust, debris or snow piled up, a quick clean will ensure that your panels operate effectively. Additionally, be sure the panels you get come with a good warranty so that if your panels do break, they get replaced.

Why do solar panels need cleaning & maintenance?

They generate energy using the sun's rays so proper cleaning and maintenance are crucial to ensure optimal performance and longevity. Even the best solar panels are exposed to various environmental elements, such as dust, dirt, pollen, bird droppings, and other debris, which can accumulate on their surface.

Do solar PV panels need to be cleaned?

That said, most solar pv panels in the UK will not need any heavy-duty cleaning because regular rain will wash most dirt and grime off the surface, dispelling one of the myths about solar being its difficulty to clean.

How often should a solar panel be cleaned?

Solar panels require very little maintenance, especially if they are on a tilt, as rain can wash away any debris. It is generally recommended that you perform solar panel cleaning between two and four times per year. Take extreme care when cleaning. Clean from the ground, as climbing around on your roof can be dangerous.

Do solar panels need maintenance in the UK?

Solar panels in the UK do not typically need extra maintenance, since the UK climate is generally favourable to them. According to manufacturers' standards, 25°C is the optimum temperature for solar panels to operate - so the UK summertime is the prime time for your panels.
