Who is micro crystal Ag?

Today, Micro Crystal AG is a leading manufacturer of Miniature Quartz Crystals (30 kHz to 250 MHz), Real-Time Clock (RTC) Modules, Oscillators and OCXOs for the world's leading manufacturers of IoT, wearable, automotive, industrial and medical applications.

What is a neural network-based approach to appliance recognition?

The approach is based on hand-crafted features and neural networks as a classifier. They reported high accuracy (i.e., 91% F1-score) for considered activities. Similarly, Paganelli et al. also propose a neural network-based approach for appliance recognition from smart plugs.

Can neural network architecture be used for non intrusive load monitoring?

Chen et al. also proposed a novel CNN architecture to recognize the fridge, dishwasher, microwave, washing machine, and kettle. Their model confirms the applicability of neural network architecture for non intrusive load monitoring.
