A new solar panel roof has been inaugurated at the Vatican to provide renewable energy to the museum. It's part of Pope Francis' plans to ensure the city state in Rome runs entirely on green .

From 20 December, official inauguration day – and in perfect timing to receive the thousands of faithful and visitors who will flock to the Eternal City for the opening of the Jubilee Year – the glass “roof” of the Vatican Museums’ “Courtyard of the Corazze” entrance will unveil its new green and eco-friendly guise, thanks to the construction, in the record time of six months, of .

Completed in record time almost on the eve of the Jubilee Year, a new photovoltaic system has been installed in the Cortile delle Corazze in the entrance of the Vatican Museums and will produce electric energy from a renewable resource. With this project, the Governorate of Vatican City State is implementing the guidelines Pope Francis outlined in the Encyclical Letter, Laudato Si', and .

In a letter released on June 21 entitled “Brother Sun” Pope Francis announced his intention to transition Vatican City onto 100% renewable energy using solar panels.

An agrivoltaic solar plant will be constructed at the Santa Maria di Galeria, a 424-hectare property on the edge of Rome that is owned by the Vatican and is now used for the transmission facilities for Vatican Radio. The solar power produced on the site will be used for Vatican Radio and will contribute to the energy needs of Vatican City.
